Human Rights Policy

Canon Oceania works under the Canon Group Human Rights Policy, shown below. For further information about Canon’s approach to human rights, please see the Canon website. Further information on Canon Oceania’s approach to Modern Slavery is included in the Social Fact Book and in our Modern Slavery Statement.

CANON GROUP HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY

Since Canon’s founding in 1937, all employees have been treated the same on a fair and equal basis, without any discrimination due to status, gender, age or occupation. This stance was based on a complete respect for humanity.

Following half a century of operations, we adopted our corporate philosophy of Kyosei in 1988. Kyosei is the aspiration to create a society in which all people, regardless of race, religion or culture, live and work together for the common good. It sets the goal of human happiness and prosperity above the profits earned by any single company or nation. Kyosei expresses our commitment to and global aspiration for a respect for humanity and makes clear the company’s firm stance to working together with stakeholders around the world to achieve this.

This policy expresses Canon Group’s commitment to respect human rights and to take measures to protect human rights under the corporate philosophy stated above, which we embed into our operational policies and procedures.

1. Respect for Human Rights:

Canon commits to respect internationally recognised human rights across its business activities, as set out in the International Bill of Human Rights, International Labor Organisation (ILO) Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work, UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, and Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises on Responsible Business Conduct. Specifically, Canon commits to respect fundamental human rights, prohibit discrimination, harassment or violence based on such factors as race, nationality, gender, religion and creed, promote diversity, prohibit child labour and forced labour (including human trafficking), prohibit unreasonable restriction on movement, respect freedom of association and the right to collective bargaining in accordance with the laws and regulations of each country and region, pay employees wages equal to or greater than legally mandated wages, prevent excessive overtime work and grant appropriate holidays, ensure occupational health and safety, prevent occupational injuries, protect privacy, and promote responsible minerals sourcing.

2. Human Rights Due Diligence:

In accordance with the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, Canon conducts human rights due diligence to identify adverse human rights impacts that are linked to its business activities, and to prevent or mitigate any adverse impacts. In consideration of the findings of human rights due diligence, Canon will review and update this policy, where necessary.

3. Grievance Mechanism:

Canon establishes and operates an effective internal and external reporting system to understand adverse human rights impacts that are linked to its business activities. When Canon identifies that it has caused or contributed to adverse human rights impacts, Canon will take appropriate steps to remedy the situation.

4. Awareness Training:

Canon conducts human rights awareness training on a continuous basis to enable its executives and employees to deepen their understanding of international initiatives relating to human rights and this policy, and to respond appropriately to human rights issues.

5. Dialogue with Stakeholders

Canon communicates its human rights approach, as stated in this policy, to stakeholders through our website and other communication channels. In a series of initiatives under this policy, Canon learns from the human rights expertise of external experts and has dialogue with stakeholders such as employees and suppliers who are or could potentially be affected by our business activities in relation to human rights.

Canon seeks to contribute to our stakeholders’ understanding of the international circumstances surrounding human rights. By cooperating with surveys and audits conducted by Canon, as well as with our responses to the risks uncovered through our initiatives, we encourage our stakeholders to join Canon in addressing human rights issues.

Procurement Policy and Suppliers Code of Conduct

Canon Oceania follows the procurement policies and practices specified by Canon. We comply with all applicable laws and regulations, apply ethical standards and operate in a manner that protects the environment. We are open to any and all suppliers and promote free and fair competition in accordance with principles of faith and trust. We support mutual growth with excellent and reliable suppliers that are selected through fair evaluation processes.

Detailed information about Canon’s global procurement requirements, including sustainability requirements for suppliers are included on the Canon website.

Canon Oceania’s Code of Conduct for Suppliers, which is based on the Responsible Business Alliance Code, is available on the Canon Australia website.

2-26 Mechanisms for seeking advice and raising concerns (Whistleblower Hotline)

For any concerns related to the operations of Canon Oceania or its suppliers in Australia, New Zealand or the Philippines, internal and external stakeholders can lodge a report online or call the Whistleblower Hotline. The online form and hotlines are hosted by a third-party provider and promoted internally through training, policies and procedures. For external stakeholders, the hotlines are hosted on our website, and included in the Code of Conduct for Suppliers.

Any information received through the hotline is sent to Canon’s Internal Audit team on a confidential basis and can be anonymous. All comments are dealt with seriously and appropriate actions are taken. This process is managed by the Canon Oceania Internal Audit team.

In 2024, 14 reports were received through the Whistleblower Hotline. All reports were from employees of Canon Australia and its subsidiaries. All reports were investigated, and appropriate actions were taken. The type of reports received are summarised in the table below. The investigations revealed no serious legal or ethical compliance issues.

ISSUES REPORTED TO WHISTLEBLOWER HOTLINE	NUMBER OF CASES
Discrimination or harassment	6
Labour management	1
Work behaviour	7
Total	14

2-27 Compliance with laws and regulations

Canon Oceania has a strong culture of ethical and legal compliance which is reinforced through its philosophy of Kyosei, codes of conduct for employees and suppliers, and regular training and awareness sessions. Compliance is monitored through various mechanisms including internal audits, and internal and external reporting processes, including the Whistleblowing Hotline mentioned previously.

During 2024, there were no significant instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations identified. There were no fines received, or non-monetary sanctions incurred.

205-3 Confirmed incidents of corruption and actions taken

As part of the Canon global risk management process, the Canon Oceania group reports annually on its compliance with the Canon global standards to prevent bribery, corruption and conflicts of interest.

Canon Oceania meets the standards by:

- Regularly assessing the potential risks of bribery and corruption across the Canon Oceania Group taking into account location, activity and sector.
- Training all employees in the Canon Code of Conduct, which requires compliance with all applicable local, national and international laws relating to anti-bribery and anti-corruption as well as Canon policies on conflict of interest and bribery.
- Employees identified as working in areas at higher risk of bribery or corruption undergo annual training covering the definitions of bribery and conflicts of interest, responsibilities and policies, and discussion of potential scenarios that they could come across in their work activities and how to identify risky situations involving gifts, benefits or bribes.
- Providing an independently operated Whistleblower Hotline, published on our websites where employees and others can report (anonymously if they wish) potential violations of Canon's Code of Conduct. (See 2–26 Whistleblower Hotline.)
- Monitoring of compliance through auditing and reporting.

During 2024 there were no confirmed incidents of corruption.

GRI 206 Anti-competitive Behaviour

Canon's approach to anti-competitive behaviour is outlined in the Code of Conduct. In addition, all elements described above in relation to anti-corruption are also applied to anti-competitive behaviour.

206-1 Legal actions for anti-competitive behaviour, anti-trust and monopoly practices

There were no legal actions pending or completed during the reporting period regarding anti-competitive behaviour or violations of anti-trust and monopoly legislation in which the organisation has been identified as a participant.

GRI 207 Approach to Tax

Canon Oceania tax policy is based on the Canon policy which is that, as a multinational corporation with operations spanning the globe, the proper payment of taxes in the countries and regions where it operates is one of its most fundamental and important social responsibilities.

Consequently, Canon's Finance and Accounting Headquarters operates an integrated tax management system in accordance with the principles set out below:

1. Pay taxes properly in accordance with the letter and the spirit of tax-related laws and ordinances without employing tax planning for tax avoidance purposes.
2. Ensure that tax accounting and other related processes are carried out unflinchingly, according to law.
3. Develop tax-related governance systems and work to raise awareness about tax compliance.
4. Adhere to common international rules on international taxation (guidelines set by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development and the United Nations) and ensure that actions are in compliance with the tax laws of each country.

Risk Management Framework

In line with the Canon corporate philosophy of Kyosei, Canon Oceania Group companies seek to operate responsibly within their local communities, recognising that the health and success of our businesses are inextricably linked to the health and success of those communities. As an extension of that philosophy, our shareholders, employees, customers and other stakeholders expect us to conduct our business competently, with integrity, in compliance with the law, and as good corporate citizens.

By consciously identifying and managing risk in our operations, we seek to run sustainable and consistently profitable businesses that meet the expectations of the communities in which we operate. We also seek to foster a business culture where all business leaders in the Canon Oceania Group companies take clear accountability for consciously and competently managing the risks in their businesses. Conscious risk management should be a driver for continuous business improvement.

The Canon Oceania Risk Management Framework is based on the international benchmark ISO 31000 Risk Management – Guidelines, and relies on the principle of three lines of defence, shown on the right.

Canon Oceania's Risk Management Framework is part of the Canon Risk Management Framework, which is outlined in detail on the Canon website. Canon Oceania reports annually to the Canon. Risk Management team on its plan to manage common risks in accordance with Canon standards during the year, and any risks that we have identified as unique to our region or business. ## Business Continuity Management Plan

Canon Oceania's business continuity management plan is based on the international standard ISO 22301 Business Continuity Management. The plan:

- Outlines responsibilities for business continuity
- Identifies vulnerabilities and risks to operations

The plan applies to all Canon Oceania sites, business groups, infrastructure, resources, facilities, and contractors and vendors critical to Canon's ability to operate its business and service its customers.

Information Security Management System

Canon Oceania is committed to protecting customer information by implementing the appropriate security controls across its services and associated information technology ecosystem. We realise that effective management of cyber and information security risk is fundamental to the successful delivery, operation and management of the group services to customers.

Canon Oceania's Information Security Management System (ISMS) is based on the International Standard ISO/IEC 27001 Information Security, Cybersecurity and Privacy Protection — Information security management systems — Requirements. Relevant sections of the business in Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines are independently certified to the Standard. (See Management System certification system, shown on the right.) The system is based on the Canon Information Security Management System, which is described on the Canon website.

The ISMS is governed by the Information Security Forum, comprised of senior managers from each of the companies within the Canon Oceania Group and chaired by the Director Technology and Operations (a member of the Senior Leadership Team). The Information Security Forum is responsible for ensuring that the system achieves the following objectives:

- Assurance for customers, regulators and other stakeholders that information assets are protected at rest, in use and in transit,
- Implementing accepted standards-based processes to provide robust repeatable outcomes that improve the organisation's security posture, through continuous improvement and independent third-party audits,
- Supporting evolving security eco-system requirements of customers, regulators and accepted standards through ongoing ISMS certification,
- Implementing standards-based risk management practices to mitigate potential compromise and exposure of information assets, and
- Maintaining the reputation and brand of Canon Oceania.

The ISMS is also fundamental to the effective implementation of Canon Oceania's privacy policy, which is addressed in the Social Fact Book.
